Bottle Photography Specs Sheet

Technical

Newstyle Media uses a Canon 6D DSLR camera to take bottle photos.

The final files provided are approximately 90x290mm at 300dpi. File formats supplied for each photo are a high, medium and low quality JPG and a layered Photoshop PSD both with clipping paths. Photoshop PSDs are very useful for designers.

Bottles

For the best quality photos please use the following guide for the bottles you supply:

- Clean bottles free from blemishes and imperfections in the glass
- If possible, make sure the seams of the bottle are to the sides of the label, and not straight down the middle
- Clean, undamaged and straight labels
- Make sure the labels do not have air bubbles underneath them
- Clean and undamaged closures
- If the closure has a logo or text on it that you would like to feature in the photograph, make sure it lines up centrally with the main label
- Back label removal is requested for rose, white and sparkling or a removal fee will be incurred.

Lighting

Newstyle Media bottle photographs are typically lit down both sides of the bottle, creating highlights down both sides and evenly illuminating the label. Photographs can be taken with a highlight down one side but this is not preferable as the labels tend to be darker down one side. Please note that labels that incorporate metallic/foil designs can be problematic.

Terms & Conditions

 High resolution images will be sent via We Transfer (www.wetransfer.com) - clients are reminded to check their email filtering
